FARIS FOR JUDGE.

The Pemiscot County Bar Association met in this city last Wednesday, Judge J. S. Gossom, vice-president, presiding. The regular order of business was continued until January 1, 1910, and the question of who would be of the best service to the people of the Twenty Eighth Judicial District as judge of the circuit court, was taken up for consideration. The urgent necessity of procuring the best man obtainable for the place was the theme of all who spoke upon the subject. Every year the litigation becomes more complicated and burdensome and everyone seems to realize that, even though the salary to the office is not very enticing to an able jurist, still some one who possesses the qualifications necessary to such a responsible office should be chosen. From the expressions of various lawyers present but one person could be agreed upon who seemed to meet their approval—Hon. C. B. Faris, of the Caruthersville Bar.—Caruthersville Democrat.

The following jolly crowd of hunters: Dr. F. A. Mayes of Hayti; Dr. Mayfield of the well known Mayfield Sanitarium, St. Louis; Sheriff J. A. Franklin of Caruthersville; Ben Phillips of Braggadocio, and A. J. Dorris, C. J. Provine and Brack Gaskins of Hayti, held a royal jubilee at the club camp on Little River on Monday of last week, on account of having killed the largest buck known to be in this section, which has been hunted for many years. He was the king of the forest, and it is thought kept the other bucks fought away from that section. Sheriff Franklin fired the lucky shot, but no one enjoyed the result more than Dr. Mayes and Mayfield, who are the soul of good humor and wit, and, by the way, of about the same stature.

Judging from the pile of brick being placed on the ground, the new brick business house to be erected by J. L. Dorris will be a "whopper." But John never does anything "halfway."

NEWSPAPER DON'TS.

Don't discontinue a newspaper until you have squared up with it.

Don't abuse a paper unless you pay for it. Borrowers are the greatest fault finders a newspaper has to contend with.

Don't get mad if your visitors name doesn't appear in the personal column. Perhaps you did not tell the editor and he is no mind-reader.

Don't delay paying your subscription because it is a small matter. If all the subscribers did the same thing it would kill the paper in six months.

Don't curse the editor because his opinions do not conform with yours. If they did he might be at variance with some eight to ten million people.—Exchange.

ANOTHER BOOST.

In this issue we publish a legal notice that means much for Hayti, the "Guardians Sale" of the Oates property just west of and adjoining the city. This has been sought for many years, and is the most beautiful building ground near the city, and if platted into lots and placed on the market the town is sure to grow.

Just at present there are very few lots that can be bought at a reasonable figure, except where titles are uncertain, and as the title to this land is good, there should be ready buyers.

We hope the land will fall into the proper hands to do the most good to the city.

A PIONEER GONE.

At 12:30 Christmas Eve morning, Mrs. Ann Julia Popham, wife of Albert D. Popham, quietly passed away, after a short illness, at her home in Hayti, surrounded by the entire family.

Mrs. Popham was one of the pioneers of Pemiscot county, and the last of the original Oates family, having moved to this county from Samson county, North Carolina, where she was born Sept. 26, 1839, which made her 70 years, 2 months, and 28 days old at the time of her death.

On February 9, 1860, she was married to Albert D. Popham, and removed to Kentucky, from which place they expected to return to Missouri in 1861, but was prevented on account of a blockade being run at Cairo, Ill., in 1861, so it was 1882 before they again returned to Pemiscot county, where they have since resided.

Mrs. Popham was a devout christian, being a member of the Baptist church for many years, and loved and honored by all who knew her. She was a devoted wife and loving mother.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. H. Patterson at the Baptist church on Christmas day, and her remains were laid to rest at the Oates cemetery.

The bereaved family have the heart sympathy of their many friends.

Ernest Caldwell of the Chas. Morgan butcher shop was called to Portageville Thursday, to attend the funeral of his grandmother, who was burned to death. Her clothing caught fire from the stove, and being very old, she could not extinguish the flames. Her husband, 80 years old, was present, also a small grandchild, but they were unable to save her.

This week we paid the city of Hayti another installment on rent, $57.25. The business men of Caruthersville contend that Hayti ought to donate office rent in the city hall to the paper, but we suppose Hayti takes a different view of it; at any rate, we pay our way.

NEW SCHEDULE.

The new schedule of the Frisco, which went into effect Jan. 2, makes the following changes at the postoffice necessary:

B. L. Guffy, P. M.

The get-together meeting of the Democrats of this state in Kansas City, January 8, promises to be a rousing success so far as numbers and interest is concerned, and if they make a success of getting together it will be a complete success. If the party is to be a success in the future it must get together, as not being together they have lost in the past two campaigns.

The postoffice at Game was discontinued on the 15 of last month, but the patrons are seeking to have the same re-established. It was quite a convenience there and unless there be a rural route to supply them with daily mail, the office should be continued.

Mrs. Dave E. Dever and children have joined her husband, and will make their home in Hayti.

THE YEARS

ACH life is like a changing flower;
Like petals, pale or colored free,
The years drop softly, hour by hour,
And leave rich seeds of memory.

Last week another "tin horn" magophone chalk line sidewalk moving picture show failed to draw a crowd at the city hall and folded their traps and stole away. The people are getting wise. The know that a thing not worth advertising and the use of printer's ink is not worth having. In both these instances these "showmen" fought shy of the printing office, but tooted their horn and disfigured the sidewalks all over town with chalk marks. But this kind of advertising does not pay.

W. S. Stewart of Stanley was one of the jolly Woodmen at the social Saturday night.

The editor and family were very kindly remembered by the hunters, on their return from the hunt, by a nice lot of venison steak, which was very fine. The presentation was made by the "Little Nimrod" of the hunt, Brack Gaskins, and perhaps our thanks are largely due to him. Brack never could enjoy anything all by himself and he knows editors have to eat.

Van New of Game attended the M. W. A. social Saturday night.

Mr. Greenwell, from Marvin Chapel neighborhood, visited our city Saturday night.

THANK YOU

wish to extend our thanks to those who contributed to the success that we have had with our holiday stock.

We had some fears that in view of recent conditions we had provided more goods than we should, but the result shows that the character of the stock and the reasonableness of the price were appreciated by the public and that it responded with hearty good will.

Trade was fully satisfactory in volume and was made doubly satisfactory by the manner in which our line was appreciated by careful buyers.

If you are not a regular customer of ours, may we add you to the list for 1910. TRY US.
